

result of this election is not calculated to have any considerable effect on the American policy.

Predicament of Diaz.

The predicament of General Felix Diaz, one of the candidates for the presidency, who remains isolated at Vera Cruz, apprehensive of danger if he tries to make a political campaign, excited the attention of officials here, who are determined to give him asylum if necessary. The position of the administration, with respect to all candidates, is that they should not be molested in any way.

May Go to American Consulate.

Vera Cruz, October 24.—General Felix Diaz to-night still remained in the hotel here, adjoining the American consulate, where he went last night after he left his home, accompanied by John Lind, American Consul, W. W. Canada and a number of friends. The authorities insist they have no order for the arrest of the presidential candidate. Should an attempt be made to take him into custody, it is believed, he will seek safety in the American consulate.

Men representing five members of the State Legislature, who anticipate arrest, have appealed to Mr. Canada for asylum in their behalf. Mr. Canada refused that action, who would be granted only on the direct solicitations of persons desiring protection. Members of the Legislature of the Vera Cruz are alarmed since five of their number already are imprisoned.

France Sends War Vessel.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)—Washington, October 24.—France today formally and officially notified the United States that she was sending a war vessel, the Conde, to Mexican waters. Following the receipt of this notification, Secretary Bryan sent for the French ambassador, M. Jusserand, with whom he held a conference in regard to this action of the French government.

There is now good reason to believe that the United States has many enemies in making inquiries of all foreign naval nations of their intentions and purpose in being represented now and in the near future in the Mexican waters.

The subject of most interest to the administration is whether the foreign nations intend to land marines and sailors, and what purpose such landings will be made in affecting the present situation, or the situation as it will be developed after the election Sunday night.

Germany already has one vessel in Mexican waters, and another is on the way. It is understood that not only European nations generally, but Central and South American republics, will also take steps to safeguard their own interests.

Interview a "Fabrication."

It was announced at the State Department today that the British embassy here had informed this government that the interview recently given by Sir Lionel Carden, the British minister at Mexico City, defying the United States "was a fabrication."

The afternoon dispatches, however, say that Sir Lionel is standing by his interview, and it is well known that the State Department had previous dispatches indicating plainly that Great Britain was in a position to defend its position. In fact, the British government itself took a grave attitude of opposition to the United States, and ordered him to present his credentials to Huerta after he had become dictator.

Secretary of State Bryan announced today that this government had sent demands through Special Envoy Lind and Consul Canada at Vera Cruz, for the release of Captain Huff, of the Morro Castle, who had been detained by the Mexican courts at Vera Cruz to testify in the case of Vasquez Gomez. Captain Huff has been accused by the Mexican government of aiding in the escape of Vasquez Gomez.

Later, unofficial dispatches to Mr. Bryan said the Morro Castle had been allowed to sail, and that Mrs. John Lind was on board. Up to that time he had received no reply as to what steps Lind and Canada had taken for the release of the steamer. It was reported at the Navy Department that if there had been no release, Admiral Fletcher, in charge of the battleship squadron at Vera Cruz, would have been instructed to convey the vessel out of port.

Admiral Fletcher is on board the battleship Louisiana. With her in Vera Cruz harbor is the battleship Michigan. The New Hampshire is at Tampico. The cruiser Tacoma is also a part of Fletcher's Vera Cruz squadron, and the gunboat Wheeling is in the harbor of Vera Cruz.

Fletcher to Be Retained.

The Rhode Island, Nebraska, New Jersey and Virginia will soon relieve the battleships under the command of Fletcher, but Admiral Fletcher will be retained at Vera Cruz as commander of the new division.

After a conference with the President today, Secretary of State Bryan gave out the substance of a dispatch from Charge d'Affaires O'Shaughnessy, in which Huerta was reported as having told the members of the diplomatic corps substantially that he would not be a candidate for the presidency, and that, even if he got a majority of the votes, he would not accept a mandate from the people at this time, in view of the promises he had already given not to be a candidate.

The administration officials to-day would not make any comment of the alleged friendly interest between British Minister Carden and the Crowder oil interests in Mexico. There is, however, an official statement at the department from the American embassy in Mexico City in which it is asserted that Great Britain is pro-Huerta; that Carden is pro-Huerta; and that Carden has taken this attitude on behalf of the "business interests of British citizens in Mexico."

No Move Against Diaz.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)—Mexico City, October 24.—Nothing has been made public here to-day regarding the exciting events at Vera Cruz or the arrests of the members of Huerta's staff last night.

It is generally understood that Felix Diaz will not be permitted to come to the capital, but that no move to place him under arrest will be made while he remains under the implied protection of the United States, even though he has not actually taken refuge in the consulate at Vera Cruz.

Much importance is attached to the conference of members of the diplomatic corps this afternoon in response to the call of the British minister. The announced purpose of the conference was the formulation of some plan by which the United States government might be induced to recognize as President the successful candidate at the election to be held on Sunday. It is expected that the plan decided upon will be laid before the United States government tomorrow.

Statement by Huerta.

Huerta, in a statement made to the diplomats to-day at the Palace, refused to determine not to be a candidate.

"The elections will be held in three days. I have called you together because I know that certain friends of mine have been thinking of supporting the Huerta-Blanco ticket, despite my public declaration that I will not accept the candidacy, and General Blanquet and I are determined to accept the candidacy, not only because this would be unconstitutional, but because of our public declarations made many times already before this country and the whole world that we will not run."

"I accepted the presidency of Mexico solely to establish peace, and the government has tried to know the will of the people, which will be strictly obeyed. I have guaranteed and will continue to guarantee all candidates that the elections will be held with the strictest integrity, and all conditions will be of the fairest kind. I beg you to communicate this to your respective governments."

Dissolution of Congress.

Some influential Londoners took this announcement by the President, and one of the envoys mentioned the question of the dissolution of Congress. Thereupon Huerta said:

"The dissolution of Congress was absolutely necessary on the part of the government. Congress was a hot bed of rebellion. At least fifty deputies were expelled from the chamber, and incriminating documents were found in the desks of several of the deputies."

This statement was in a decidedly different tone from the Huerta issued at 2 A. M. after a long conference with Sir Lionel Carden, the British ambassador.

At that time he asserted he intended to rule Mexico without interference from any outside powers and in effect warned all nations to keep hands off.

Tyrell on Way to America.

London, October 24.—The Foreign Office was asked by the correspondent of The Times-Dispatch to-day whether the departure of its chief clerk, Sir William Tyrell, on the Imperator yesterday had any bearing on the Mexican situation. The suggestion was immediately denied. One of the chief officials said:

"Tyrell is going on a visit to Texas. It is true that the British ambassador has not been particularly well of late and it is possible that Tyrell might be of some assistance to him. It is not true, however, to say that he has gone on any mission regarding Mexico."

Despite this official opinion, it is the popular opinion in London that Tyrell would not have been allowed to leave England at the present critical time unless there was some special object for the journey, and it is generally believed that he has been sent to the United States to assist in the public feeling in the United States towards the British attitude in connection with the Huerta situation.

The Foreign Office further stated to-day that there were no fresh developments in the Mexican situation, and the expression was made that it was a matter of pleasure that there had been no new developments.

Lines Released.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)—Vera Cruz, October 24.—The Ward Line Morro Castle, with Mrs. John Lind, wife of President Wilson's special Mexican envoy, on board, was to-day released by the Mexican authorities, and sailed for Havana and New York.

Before the steamer was allowed to sail, the authorities arrested State Legation Deschamps, Victoria, and Pinero and Congressman Prida, who were booked for Havana on the Morro Castle. The men were taken from the ship and placed in the Vera Cruz military barracks. They will be court-martialed.

The port authorities explained they held the steamer solely to get these men. No other passengers were molested.

Mr. Lind, who had sent a protest to the State Department at Washington, and Minister of Foreign Affairs Madero, at Mexico City, to-day was notified through American Consul Canada that no offense was intended, but the holding of the Morro Castle was unavoidable.

Comments by Foreign Press.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)—London, October 24.—The latest phase of the Mexican situation occupies much space in all of the London newspapers, and all agree that the present crisis is the most serious which has yet arisen in that country. A persistent rumor is current here to-night that the cruise of the American fleet in the Mediterranean next month has been canceled. None of the officials at the American embassy could confirm or deny the rumor, all saying that so far as they knew the cruise would be carried out according to the original plans.

The comments here devote little attention to the size of the issue arising from Sir Lionel Carden's alleged criticism of the policy of the United States in the Mexican situation. The Pall Mall Gazette says:

"The supposed interview with Minister Carden is, of course, declared to be apocryphal, and an attempt to rouse feeling against Great Britain in the United States by the American press. Such a campaign is reprehensible, but we ought to be sure by this time have learned to estimate these things for their true value."

Refers to Election.

The Westminster Gazette, referring to the coming Mexican election says: "It is probable that the election will be manipulated in the usual manner and Huerta will obtain a majority in the Congress. Every friend of Mexico will hope that the new President and legislative bodies will give the country a government strong enough to restore peace and order, but the difficulties facing any possible government will be very great and will not be rendered any the less so by the refusal of the United States to recognize the new President and Congress."

Looks Very Foolish.

"At any rate the foreign office has been made to look very foolish. And it is, of course, true, that President Wilson has landed himself and his country in a very awkward position, but it is the only course for a practical, self-respecting statesman."

The London Standard, in discussing the recognition of Huerta by Great Britain, says: "We are not giving Huerta a certificate of character, but so far as his personal character is concerned, we are not in a position to say anything. The order in Mexico, and it is doubtful if anyone else can; and though Huerta's rule may fall far below the Anglo-Saxon standard of justice, he has been seen by the world as a man of means, and he is capable of maintaining general elections would only mean that Mexico would become involved in a further whirlpool of civil war, which would last until quelled by some other iron-handed adventurer, so more scrupulous than Huerta and probably far less capable."

Medical Society

ENDING CONVENTION

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)—Lynchburg, Va., October 24.—The forty-fourth annual convention of the Medical Society of Virginia, which began in session at the Virginia Hotel since Tuesday evening, adjourned this afternoon shortly after 1 o'clock after the new president, Dr. Stephen Harnsburger, of Catlett, Va., was inducted into office.

The convention is characterized as one of the best the society has held in recent years, and it ended with an increase of 100 applications for membership, reported and approved during the convention. The actual enrollment of delegates up to the close was 350.

The executive council made a supplemental report just before the close of the convention, in which it had the matter of meeting at Washington next year referred to that body, as the question was raised as to the right of the society to hold its annual meeting outside of the State without violating its charter of incorporation.

The council reported that Dr. C. C. Carrington had been chosen its chairman.

Dr. Irvin and Griffith were appointed a committee to escort the president-elect to the chair, and this duty was discharged.

The retiring president, Dr. Southgate Leigh, of Norfolk, expressed his gratitude for the co-operation he had received while president, and then he presented the new president.

Dr. Harnsburger expressed his delight over the honor accorded him, and he said he looked to each member to aid in making the meeting at Washington a success. He paid a tribute to Dr. Leigh for his zeal, and craved the strength and co-operation during the year to make his administration as successful as the one just ended.

BRISTOL TO KEEP TWO POST-OFFICES

Postmaster-General Burleson Authorizes Announcement in Washington.

Washington, October 24.—Postmaster-General Burleson late to-day announced that Bristol, Va., and Bristol, Tenn., would again have two postmasters and two post-offices—one on the Virginia side and one on the Tennessee side of the city.

The action was taken as a result of the protest of residents of the Virginia section of the city, when the Postmaster-General recently ordered the Virginia post-office closed, and authorized the post-office in the Tennessee section of the city.

If credit is given to one particular person, rather than to any others, for the termination of this matter, it should go to Judge William E. Rhea, a member of the State Corporation Commission, who has labored faithfully to see that the office should remain open. At the same time, it should not be forgotten that the two Virginia Senators, Martin and Swanson, and many of the leading business men of Bristol have done since the efforts to close the office were begun early this year.

Some two or three years ago Congressman Slomp, Republican, representing the Ninth Congressional District, convinced Mr. Taft that Bristol had been treated unjustly all these years, and induced him to nominate Gaylord Goodell, a Bristol, Va., Republican, to be postmaster of the Bristol, Tenn., office, and thereupon a howl went up from the Tennessee side, and the two Democratic Senators from Tennessee declared their purpose to defeat Mr. Goodell's nomination. Thereupon President Taft sent for Mr. Slomp and told him that he thought it best to withdraw Mr. Goodell's nomination, but that he would promise to establish a post-office in Bristol, Va.

Notwithstanding the fact that Postmaster-General Hitchcock and his first assistant postmaster, usually sided with the Tennessee Republicans, and the efforts of Mr. Slomp to establish a post-office in Bristol, Va., under the positive instructions of President Taft, the office was established and was opened last February.

The Post-office Department although compelled to open the office under the instructions of the President, hampered its opening in every way it required the newly-appointed postmaster, Mr. Gauthier, to take the money out of his own pocket and buy equipment for the office, which he did at an expense of $2,000. Mr. E. Jones, owner of the building in which the new office was to be opened, spent between $1,000 and $2,000 in putting the building in a condition for a post-office, and the new postmaster, through instructions from the Post-office Department made a contract with Mr. Jones to rent the building for one year at last February.

The question of the future of the office having at last been settled, it now remains to be seen whether the building is in a condition to be held on, or whether he will be succeeded by some one else at an early date. At any rate, the office will remain open, and that is what the Bristol people desire more than anything else at this time.

EXPENSE ACCOUNT RULES

New Set Being Drawn Up for New York State Officials.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)—Albany, N. Y., October 24.—The State Comptroller is busy drawing up a new set of rules and regulations for State officials to govern their expenditures. During the last few days experts, going over the personal accounts of ex-Governor Sulzer, discovered some strange charges, which prompted the new ruling.

Among the articles charged to the state were one dog and one bone box, one biscuit, one tin of tooth powder, one dozen aspirin tablets, one quart of hair tonic, one dog collar, four bottles of eye drops, one yard elastic. The new rules for expense accounts will specify that there must be no telegraph and telephone charges, and that hereafter the State will not pay for candy or large amounts for tips.
